Annual report for the Men's Group for 2004

2004 was the 10th year of the men's group. The Men's group aims to establish a sociable environment for men of all ages. The group looks to encourage both established church members, newcomers and visitors to meet on a monthly basis, this encourages people to become involved in church life, helps people get to know others and establish new friendships and interests. The group acts as an important part of church 'outreach'

The group has met monthly during 2004, a variety of events are held which include ten-pin bowling, visiting Crayford dogs, golf, attending a local football match, banger racing and meeting for drinks and enjoying meals out in Bromley. Most events are well attended and are great fun.

Our forthcoming event includes a guest speaker, which will offer something different and has already proven to attract interest from newcomers, which is good news.

The men's group also provides needed support to other regular church activities, these include the June fair and November market preparations, setting up the Christmas candles and the Christmas tree each year.

Yearly planning meetings are held each July and new ideas are always welcomed. A listing of the men's group activities is posted on the parish church web site and is published monthly in the pew notice.

The Men's group sees on average approximately 10 people meeting each month. The group has an established attendance but also sees new comers although not as many newcomers as we would like.

There are no accounts associated with the men's group.
