

Steve

On the 25th September around 15 youths trekked to Beckenham. Many asked why 15 youths would trek to such a random distant place? Well, the answer is found in a male's first name. No, not Dave but STEVE!

Hundreds of locals from around the municipality swarmed into a large hall with laminate flooring...three hundred to be exact. I can hear your minds calling out to us why were they there? To realize and appreciate Christian rock music.

The evening started with a band called 'Broken Chains', winner of Battle of the Bands. Lead singer Jack warmed up the crowd with his hot vocals. Paul Kay was the ringleader of the "mashing", apparently a form of dancing. If coming out of a sweaty mob with bruises reaching from head to toe is called dancing, then I'm all for it.

After 'Broken Chains' tantalising tongue twisting triumphant performance 'Steve' leapt onto the stage and played some classic tunes from their album 'Falling Down'. Special mention to Matt Spencer who looked completely knackered after fighting his way through the throbbing multitude of fans to the front for a better view, not that he needs it (he is very tall.) Charlotte and Sarah Newman, however, had to stand on chairs to even see the intriguing performance of the band.

A great night's entertainment, for only a fiver. Upcoming events include 'The Band With No Name' (very comical) in February who are a Christian hip hop group and other musical delights.

Give us a sense of humour by AG Bullivant

Give us a sense of humour, Lord,
And also things to laugh about.

Give us the grace to take a joke against ourselves
And to see the funny side of life.

Save us from annoyance, bad temper,
Or resentfulness against our friends.

Help us to laugh
even in the face of trouble;
And fill our minds with the love of Jesus,
For his name's sake.

Amen
