

Kissing Cousins? Christians and Muslims face to face*By Bill A. Musk £10.99 ISBN 1 85424 675 5

Muslims and Christians share a belief that the one God creates and sustains the world. Man is endowed with moral responsibility. Yet so much also divides - our notions of worship and religion, our conceptions of God and Jesus (Muslims regard Jesus as a good Muslim), and our centuries of hostility. This book looks back to look forward, unravelling misconceptions in the hope of at least truer understanding.

Home Improvement – Eight tools for effective parentingBy Dr Scott Turansky and Joanne Miller £6.99 ISBN 078144151X

How can I be consistent when I'm parenting under pressure? How can I help my children change their hearts and not just their behaviour? What can I do about the lingering tension we face in our family after times of discipline? Every parent has wondered about the answers to these questions - but now there are solid answers you can rely on. This book offers practical, hands-on ideas for family rules that teach values, ways to let your children know when you mean business, plans for helping children deal with their anger, and constructive ways to end times of discipline.

Running on Empty - life lessons to refuel your faithBy Arron Chambers £6.99 ISBN 1562923048

We live in an age that prizes busyness, but just because our days are busy it doesn't mean that our lives are full. When we stop long enough to think about it, it's painfully clear that for all our activity, we haven't got very far. Truth is - we're running on empty. This book uses 21 elements in the gospel of John to suggest how you can stop your busyness and live the abundant life Jesus promised.

Answers to Pastors' FAQsBy Howard F Sugden and Warren W Wiersbe £7.99 ISBN 0781441560

If you are considering going into any kind of Christian ministry, you may find this book to be a helpful start. It helps you think through some key questions, such as:

How can I determine whether I am called to the ministry,

How important is the assurance of a special call?

How can I get started on the right foot in a new place of ministry?

How can we best assimilate new converts and new members into the church family?

Diary of a Dangerous VisionBy Andy Hawthorne £6.99 ISBN 1842911848

This is the story of one man's conversion and the blossoming of an ever-growing group of Christians set to take Christ into the most demanding and tough urban areas. Their vision spawned a number of different related initiatives: the beginning and growth of the World Wide Message Tribe, Cameran Dante's conversion, and the EDEN project in Manchester.

Andy Hawthorne was born in Manchester and rebelled as a teenager before being brought to Christ by his brother, Simon. They started a fashion business and it was some of the youths whom they employed that inspired Andy to take the Message to schools, to launch the work of the World Wide Message Tribe and EDEN.
