Alexander Fishburn: At the age of seven Alex began a five year period as a chorister in the choir of Durham Cathedral, where in his final year he began organ lessons with James Lancelot. Alex studied for two years with Christopher Stokes, at Chetham's School of Music in Manchester. During this time he was Assistant Organist at All Saints' Parish Church, Wigan. He is now a first year student at the Royal College of Music in South Kensington, studying with Margaret Phillips. Alex was appointed Assistant Organist at Bromley Parish Church in January 2015. Previous recitals include Rochdale Town Hall, Manchester Cathedral and Leigh Parish Church.
